Team Durham College (DC) is once again pounding the pavement during the Scotiabank Charity Challenge (SCC) at the Scotiabank Toronto Waterfront Marathon, Half-Marathon and 5k (STWM). On October 22, DC participants will #RunforDC50, walk or wheel through the streets of Toronto to help raise money for construction of the college's new Centre for Collaborative Education (CFCE).

We've set a $50,000 fundraising goal and I hope you will consider sponsoring me. I'm training for the [insert your event] and aiming for another personal best [or whatever your personal event goal is]. Your financial support will be a great incentive as I prepare to #RunforDC50, while also helping move Team DC closer to our fundraising goal.

All the funds raised from the #RunforDC50 will go towards construction of the CFCE. A legacy project tied to the college's 50th anniversary in 2017, the CFCE will replace the college's aging Simcoe building, which was originally built as a temporary structure and opened in 1969.

The new multi-level, 75,000-square-foot-facility will serve as an educational access point for students while bringing together local, Indigenous and global community groups and members of key business sectors. The CFCE is designed to reflect and address the needs of both students and the community, including the desire for more collaborative learning and social spaces.

Help DC celebrate its 50th Anniversary. Help Team DC reach #RunforDC50 fundraising goal and in turn, help us create an amazing space for DC students of the future to flourish and become our business and community leaders of tomorrow.
